

Island Trader

Short Description

The ocean is full of small islands that need supply. Use your ship in order to bring them the supply they want, this will gain you the island support and cards that will help you provide resources for the other islands.

The game map is randomly generated every game so a new challenge awaits you every time. The layout of the map can also determine the difficulty of the game.

The game can be played with a single player. When played this way it is a puzzle, where the player tries to reach all the islands.
